

Magazine opens door to inclusion

May 4, 2008

A new magazine is designed to advise lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender groups and organizations how to be fully welcoming of transgender people.

The publication, "Opening the Door to the Inclusion of Transgender People: The Nine Keys to Making Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Organizations Fully Transgender-Inclusive," is a joint effort of The National Center for Transgender Equality and the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force.

The magazine examines the need for advocates to support gender identity and expression in public policy, programming and legislation.

– Information compiled by Karen Lovett from the Detroit Free Press; Yahoo News; The International Lesbian and Gay Association; and The National Center for Transgender Equality