Yesterday's sessions at Creating Change were about racial issues in the LGBT community. (See Jerame and Waymon's posts for more in depth info on the different group sessions they each attended.) I spent some time yesterday afternoon asking attendees to talk about their experiences with me.

I asked all of the people the same four questions. I found it fascinating to hear the same refrain from the different ethnicities. All had faced discrimination from the LGBT community and all of them thought race relations in the LGBT community sucked.

Check them out after the jump:

Reid Uratani
Monique Wright
Manish Vaidya
Manju Rajendran
